Description

Finding the Module

Note: Removing all of the content from a section page but leaving it active will set the section page to the default setting (the content in the vertical column section).

Functionality

The Section Page manager allows for unique content on each page of a website which will override the global settings of either the vertical column section or the footer section, whichever it is enabled for.

This module is ideal for adding specialized information relating to the content of each individual page. For example, this may be used on a website about different dog breeds with each page giving information on a different breed. The section page on each of these pages could provide links to other websites with information on that breed.

Content editing works the same in this area as it would in any content editor, except that, like the vertical column section, the space is quite limited horizontally at only 190 pixels wide.

Note: If the section page manager is enabled for the vertical column section, it will behave the same as the vertical column section if vertical navigation is enabled; that is, it will be pushed below the navigation.

As you can see in the examples below (section page shown in red), having the ability to add unique content to even one page can be very helpful in order to not mess up the preexisting formatting of the site, especially if the change is temporary or happens frequently.
